MR. DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: We have admitted a calling attention on Andhra Situation. Mr. Venkatasubbaiah, we were postponing it because you had gone there. Perhaps we are fixing it up for tomorrow. Will it be all right?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS: (SHRI P. VENKATASUBBAIAH): Yes, Sir.

SHRI M. S. GURUPADASWAMY: Sir, my submission is that you are right that the Jammu and Kashmir issue has been debated and discussed but a new situation has arisen now. There has been police firing. There have been killings.

MR. DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Mr. Gurupadaswamy, that is a State subject. (Interruptions).

SHRI SURESH KALMADI: It is a puppet Government of the Centre. How is it a State subject. It is a puppet Government of the Centre. (Interruptions).

SHRI M. S. GURUPADASWAMY: Every State has to deal with the law and order situation. But in Jammu & Kashmir there is an extraordinary situation where the Centre is involved.

MR. DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: No, no.

SHRI M. S. GURUPADASWAMY: The Centre is very much involved here. There is the law and order problem in every State. ling Attention Motion or some other motion? If notice is given, it can be considered. No problem. But issues cannot be raised in this way. (Interruption) I cannot allow this running commentary, Mr. Kalmadi. The Constitutional and other issues in regard to Jammu and Kashmir have been discussed in this House already. The Home Minister has already made a statement on this. May be, some new developments might have taken place there. But that is entirely the responsibility of the State administration there. State Government is there to look after law and order, Mr. Gurupadaswamy. (Interruptions) There are many States which are run by the Opposition parties also. Firings are taking place. Curfew is there. But we cannot take up such matters.... (Interruptions) If hon. Members want that certain matters should be discussed, as I said, they should give proper notice, for Calling Attention Motion or some other motion or they can put a question. Then, this can be taken up. But matters cannot be raised in this way.

(Interruptions)
